They will include baseline and target goals. - The Taskforce reviewed the new section Tobacco Cessation and Education that will be included in the work plan. The indicators were reviewed and discussed by the Healthy Baby Taskforce. - It was shared with the Taskforce Indicators 5.1 and 5.2 was revised with the committee's recommendations. - Marilyn Roman from Miami-Dade AHEC shared how AHEC could assist with Indicator 5.5. She also discussed how we could include the intervention of the Tools to Quit Program. - Candice Schottenloher shared a brief overview to the Taskforce about the Mobilizing for Action through Planning and Partnerships (MAPP) Process. This process is completed every 5 years. There are 4 assessments included in the process. From the assessments common themes were identified. The community residents and organizations prioritized these common strategic health priorities. These priority areas became the focus of the Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP). This process is in alignment from the national level using Healthy People 2020 to the state level using the State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP) to create the local CHIP.
New Business	The Taskforce members had a discussion on inviting key stakeholders and partners that should be a part of our conversation at the Healthy Baby Taskforce. The key stakeholders that were mentioned included Concerned African Woman, local colleges and universities, family planning, members of the local hospital system and federally qualified health centers (FQHCs). Some best practices were discussed on how to invite partners. It was noted that we can send personalized email invites or when at other meetings to invite them while we are discussing in-person.
